Inmate Claims Eye Lost When in Prison

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A former inmate at Cummins Prison Farm testified Thursday before the state Claims Commission that he lost his left eye, partial use of his right hand and suffered brain damage as a result of a beating administered by a farm trusty in October 1964.

Carter Doze, 45, of Little Rock told the commission that because of the beating he filed suit last March against the state asking for $100,000 in damages for lost wages, pain and suffering.

Doze said he received the beating from Milton Grundy, who was a trusty in charge of the vegetable house where he was working.

He said he was beat for carrying a pocketful of peanuts away from the field.

After the beating, Doze said, he was taken to the prison infirmary and treated by an inmate doctor, Jeffery Hawkins, and the prison doctor, Dr. Gwyn Atnip of Pine Bluff.

Prison records showed that Doze spent two weeks in the infirmary in October 1964.

While in the infirmary, Doze testified, Clay Smith, a warden, visited him and said, "If you want to live to get out of here, keep your mouth shut."

Doze said this remark convinced him not to file a claim for damages until the three-year statute of limitations had expired.

"I was just scared," Doze said.

A member of the commission, James R. Campbell of Hot Springs, said he thought the delay should not force the commission to dismiss Doze's claim.

Doze was sent to Cummins in August 1963 for a six-year sentence on a charge of forgery and uttering in Union County. He was paroled in February 1966.

His parole was revoked in July 1967 after he pleaded guilty to a manslaughter charge in the death of an El Dorado man in 1967. He was returned to Cummins. He was paroled again last January.

Doze said he received no beating at the prison before the incident with Grundy. After the beating, Doze said, he was beaten a total of about 30 times before he was released this year. The beatings were at the hands of Grundy and several other men at the prison, Doze said.

He said that the first beating by Grundy occurred after Doze loaned Abraham Blackwell, an inmate, $1. Doze said Grundy observed the transaction and it apparently upset him.

"Nothing's been right since," Doze said.

He said he was told by and other inmate that Grundy and Blackwell were partners in homosexual activities and Grundy was jealous of the friendship between Blackwell and himself.

Doze said he requested an X-ray for his head injury during his stay in the infirmary but was refused. X-rays were taken of his injured right arm, he said.

Describing his arm injury, Doze said he lost strength in the arm whenever he worked a short period. The small finger and ring finger on the right hand appear drawn into the palm.

"They're not straight yet," he said of the fingers.

He said he had been blind in his left eye since childhood but he testified that he had never had the eye removed because "it never gave me any trouble."

The head injury forced the removal of the blind eye, he said.

Medical records at the prison show that the eye was removed in December 1965 at the State Hospital in Little Rock.

Mike Wilson of the attorney general's office questioned Doze about his behavior as an inmate. He asked Doze about an incident in which a former inmate reportedly went on a rampage and ran a group of inmates and armed trustys out of a cotton patch.

Doze denied that he was the inmate who went on the rampage.

"What about chopping a cat's head off with an ax?" Wilson asked.

Doze said he had done this, but he said he was being threatened by several inmates, and he chopped off the cat's head as a warning to the inmates. He said this took place in the prison vegetable house.

Wilson brought up another incident in which Doze was reported to have torn up a television set in the inmate barracks.

"I had a spell," Doze said. He said this incident came after he had received beatings and his conduct was affected by the injury he had received.

Doze said that after he was questioned about the destruction of the television set, he was sent to Little Rock for medical tests. He said he was questioned by associate superintendent J. R. Price.

Doze described himself as a "model prisoner" and never refused to do his work. He said he always tried to do the best job he could.

He now is employed as a laborer with a Little Rock milk company. Prior to going to prison he worked at a sawmill as a laborer, Doze said.

Hometown to Welcome Astronaut

By AL DOPKING
Associated Press Writer
WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Neil A. Armstrong's hometown folks were trying to be as calm today about his homecoming as he appeared when he stepped on the moon.

But it was hard to do. A crowd of 100,000 is expected for his official welcome Saturday, and already the first of the visitors had started to fill up this town of 7,500 people.

The big problem was handling traffic. The other one was feeding all the visitors.

Three hundred police officers, many of them state highway patrolmen, have been called in to direct the anticipated 40,000 cars.

Concession stands have been set up at the Auglaize County fair grounds. That's where the public reception will be held for Armstrong, after a 2½-mile parade through town.

Decorations are in place along the five blocks in the main part of the business district on Auglaize Street. Store fronts are decorated with pictures of Armstrong, American flags and red, white and blue bunting.

The whole town captured the space spirit. Headquarters for the homecoming is called Tranquility Base and the names of streets have been changed for the day to ones like "Apollo Drive" and "Lift Off Lane."

Armstrong and his wife, Janet, are expected to arrive with their two sons late today but they likely will not see anyone except members of their families and close friends before Saturday morning.

Armstrong's Saturday schedule allows only 10 minutes for a reunion with his high school graduating class of 1947.

But he will have plenty of time for the one thing he insisted on—a talk alone with youths on the high school football field, the very first thing on his day's schedule.

Contraceptive Risk Outweighs the Danger

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government advisory panel says the benefits from oral contraceptives still outweigh the risks, despite new proof of danger from blood clots.

The committee of 14 physicians Thursday submitted its second report to the Food and Drug Administration since 1966 on the status of "The Pill."

FDA Commissioner Herbert L. Ley Jr. termed the findings "favorable."

The committee chairman, Dr. Louis M. Hellman of New York City, said the panel's message to the eight million American Women using the pill is similar to the one in 1966: "The light is still yellow—caution."

The report's chief conclusion: "When (the) potential hazards and the values of the drugs are balanced, the committee finds the ratio of benefit to risk sufficiently high to justify the designation safe."

"There is no effective drug on the market that doesn't have serious adverse side effects associated with it," Ley added.

Hellman said evidence has mounted in the past three years on links between oral contraceptives and such diseases as cancer, diabetes and high blood pressure. But definitive proof is missing, he said.

The committee, however, did cite an investigation by one of its task forces as establishing that oral contraceptives cause blood clots in some women.

The task force found that among 175 matched pairs of women, pill users were 4.4 times more likely to suffer blood clots than those not taking the pill.

In turn, those women using sequential preparations ran a higher risk of clots than women using combined oral contraceptives.

The sequential compounds use estrogen alone for part of the menstrual cycle then add a second hormone for the remainder. The combination preparations contain the two hormones at all times.

Because of the blood-clot problem, pill users are 3 per cent more likely to die between the ages of 15 and 44 than women who use other means of contraception, the committee said. Clots can be fatal when they lodge in such vital organs as the lung, heart and brain.

The committee said the pill's great benefit is this: It is from twice to 30 times more effective than other contraceptive devices such as diaphragms and foams.

Hellman said oral contraceptives should not be used—or used cautiously—by women who have: existing vein disease; family history of cancer or breast disease; sexual problems; high blood pressure; headaches or weight gain following pill use.

A major manufacturer of birth control pills, Syntex Laboratories of Palo Alto, Calif., issued a statement on the report saying the U.S. and British studies should be "kept in perspective."

GROOVY GRANDPA GOES GIRL CRAZY

Dear Helen: I am a Grandma, age 62, and I am happy to act my age. My husband thinks he is a teenager. After 40 years of marriage, he wants to take off with any young thing who is willing—and many are, since he can afford to buy them furs, cars, etc. However, the money is running out. I fear there will be nothing left for retirement when this silly old goat gets through his second childhood.

He has had five girl friends in the past two years. Luckily a little of the money is where he can't reach it (bonds which require my signature), so I won't be destitute. Now he has found a woman only half his age, who wants no mink, etc. All she wants is HIM! He is completely bowled over by her "unselfishness," and has asked for a divorce so he can marry her.

She is taking the long view—inheritance as well as his income. He can't see she's more of a gold digger than the others. I'm so sick of the mess I'd love to divorce him, sue for alimony, and let him cook his own goose. But then, 40 years of marriage is habit forming. I still care about the man he used to be, and hope he'll come back to being a solid grandfather.

Should I hang on?—DESPERATE GRANDMA.

Dear Desperate: Call your children in for a family conference. You need financial as well as marital advice. Inasmuch as they are the heirs, they should provide both, via a good lawyer and possibly a psychiatrist.

Perhaps you can't hang on to a man who wants a second go at life, but at least you can protect the part of his money that is rightfully yours.

Dear Helen: I noticed my diet pills have been disappearing aw-

MORALITY V. RATIONALITY

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — More than seven of every ten Roman Catholics interviewed in a family planning survey here said they use contraceptives forbidden by their church.

The survey, conducted by a senior sociology lecturer at Durban's University College for Indians, indicated that Roman Catholics have the highest accidental pregnancy rate despite the fact that 78.3 per cent of those interviewed use contraceptives. According to the survey, Jewish and English-speaking Protestant couples are the most rational planners because they have no moral objection to contraceptives.

South bid his hand with all the delicacy of a steamroller, but we can't find any real fault with his Blackwooding to a slam after his partner's jump raise. After all, if North held the king of spades instead of the king of clubs, the slam would be a cinch.

With the actual North hand, the slam depended on a finesse if a club were opened. But the steamroller bidding gave the defense no real information and West made his normal lead of the diamond jack.

South played the hand in the same steamroller fashion. He went up with dummy's ace of diamonds and took the trump finesse.

West was in with the king and went into a long huddle while South and East sweated it out. Finally, West decided that his best chance to set the slam would be a club shift. He led a club and the curtain rang down on another slam.

West deserves a lot of credit for finding that club shift but we feel that South might have studied the hand awhile at trick one and come up with a winning line of play. He should have won the diamond lead with his king and cashed his ace of trumps. The next plays would be the ace and queen of diamonds from dummy. East would ruff and South would overruff, otherwise South would discard his club.

A heart to the 10 would allow a fourth diamond lead. South would ruff this and enter dummy with the queen of hearts.

Out would come dummy's fifth and last diamond. Away would go South's losing club and West could take his king of trumps then or later, but that would be all for his side. The club trick would have vanished.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Stanley Myron Handelman, who has parlayed a splendid Brooklyn accent, a New York cabdriver's hat and a deep insecurity into a fine career, just hopes he will be discovered some more.

During the past two summers, he has been occupied by Dean Martin's summer replacement show on NBC. As a result, he has been signed for increasingly frequent guest shots on the parent winter show.

"That," says Stanley Myron Handelman earnestly, "is where it counts."

Stanley was dispensing his individual style of humor—he's always the loser, but with a jaunty air that shows he doesn't know it—in an airless Greenwich Village coffee house for $8 a night in 1962 when he had his first big chance: A spot on a summer revival of "Talent Scouts."

"That was great," said Stanley slyly, "and it was even followed by a break on a Sullivan show. Then nothing happened." He went back to the one-night dates, the Catskill resorts, the small night clubs. Then Merv Griffin discovered him. Although the pay was low, the exposure was great and his extra-TV career picked up. Stanley decided, however, that the only place for an ambitious young comic was Hollywood.

"Nobody seemed to care, so I finally ran an ad in 'Daily Variety' figuring if an ad had gotten Bette Davis some work, it might help me. The producer of Martin's show saw it, looked at me on a Merv Griffin show and hired me."

By the time the current series, "The Goldiggers," is finished, Stanley will be playing the best rooms in Las Vegas and New York.

"Today the only real way to get recognition and big money is through television," he said. "Before the summer shows I was getting, tops, $750 a week when I worked. Now I can shoot for $10,000."

Handelman's low-key style develops slowly and much of the time he permits the audience to anticipate, with delicious dread, his punchlines.

"Like I tell them how I've just read that to be successful in dealings with people you have to say something about the other person that will make a deep impression," he explained. "I tell them how I was looking for this job and when the man started to interview me, I was going to make a big impression. So I started the interview by saying, 'I see that you're bald.' The audience usually screams—see, they identify."

ABC skipped a rerun of "The Flying Nun" Thursday night to give a half-hour sampling of the cartoon shows that will fill its Saturday morning hours.

The shows seem to be the standard mix of music with animal and human characters in wildly exaggerated situations that children, presumably, know is all in fun.

"The Cattanooga Cats" is a musical cartoon with a portion devoted to the parents of the cartoon characters. The cartoon characters are more amusing and malaprop than evil, and virtue triumphs easily.

The blueberry is as lovely tasting as other members of its family are pleasing to look at.

Serve blueberries fresh from the basket with milk, sour cream or ice cream or try them in spice cookies for your preschoolers at home.

BLUEBERRY SPICE COOKIES

- 1 cup fresh blueberries
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
- ¾ cup granulated sugar
- 2 eggs
- 2½ cups all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon baking soda
- 1½ teaspoons each ground cinnamon and nutmeg
- 1 cup quick cooking oatmeal
- 1 cup chopped walnuts

Rinse blueberries and drain dry. Cream butter until soft and fluffy. Gradually stir in sugars. Beat in eggs. Stir in remaining ingredients. Fold in blueberries. Drop dough by heaping-teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 10 to 12 minutes or until cookies are lightly browned. Cool on racks. Know More About God

By ROGER DOUGHTY
NEA News Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — When the Rev. Tom Haggai kisses somebody, he doesn't fool around, which, more or less, is the story of how Zsa Zsa Gabor went kissless in Chicago.

It's not that the Rev. Haggai, who spends all his time roaming around the country speaking to and about (and trying to relate to) the youth of America, has anything against movie stars in general or Miss Gabor in particular. It's just that he's busy and doesn't like to waste time—even the scant few seconds it would take to plant a lip or two on the well-photographed face of a highly agreeable Hungarian.

"I was speaking at a weekend conference in Chicago," the robust clergyman recalled the other day, sipping a cup of coffee in a crowded Manhattan restaurant while all around him the martinis flowed like martinis. "and Zsa Zsa was on the same program. One evening she was wandering around, kissing people, all in good fun, and she came to me. Being a strange bird, I refused, saying something like, 'No thanks. It wouldn't mean anything to you and there's nothing in it for me.' If nothing else, I'll bet she remembers me."

The Rev. Haggai is a hard man to forget. "He is," says a man who knows him, "the most non-religious minister I ever met."

But that's not quite true. "I'm religious enough," he says, "and all it does is create more tension within the Establishment, which is tense enough as it is. A lot of young people have drifted away from the church thinking that God is part of the Establishment. Nothing could be farther from the truth."

To the Rev. Haggai, it seems only fitting that he should be wandering the face of the earth, without a church of his own, offering advice to people who won't consider going to a house of worship.

"The youth revolution," he says, "is also a religious revolution, even though it isn't the organized variety. I'm happy to be out in the world and a part of it. The next few years could be the most exciting in religious history, if we'll let them be."

As for those who would like to fill in for the Rev. Haggai the next time he comes face to face with the moist lips of a prettily puckered-up movie queen, the line forms to the left.

Worship In Church Every Week

an Optimistic View

Hurray for youth!... the juveniles of our community. Let us, during national youth week, honor the 95% of our young people who are law-abiding citizens and will be the dependable community men and women of tomorrow. God help the small minority (only 5%) referred to as delinquents. They are the ill-advised, law-breaking thugs who glory in character assassination and destruction of public property. Optimist Clubs International are leading in the crusade to give the good youngsters of our world their rightful place in the sun. May this huge army of juveniles not forget that the church on the corner will aid greatly in helping them keep their feet on the right road.

HOPE NEWSPAPER HISTORY:
The 1929 consolidation joined the two principal newspaper lines dating back to within five years of Hope's incorporation in 1875.

1899 — Star of Hope founded as a weekly by Claude Mc-Corkle; converted to an evening daily by his son, Ed. McCorkle, publishing until the 1929 consolidation.

The opposition line:
1880 — Hope News founded by Lowry Brothers.
1883 — Sold to Withers & Johnson, name changed to Hope Telegraph.

1883 — Later in same year resold to Claude McCorkle and renamed Hope Mercury.

1884 — Sold to James H. Betts, who named it Hope Gazette, under which name it was published continuously until 1922, published by
Betts, J.L. Tullis, and Col. W.W.
Folsom the last-named dying in 1916.

1916 — Purkins & Gates bought the weekly Gazette and made it a companion paper to their new daily, Arkansas Evening Herald
— but both papers suspended in 1922.

1926 — Plant was revived by Curtis Cannon as the weekly
Hempstead County Review.

1927 — Cannon sold plant to D.A. Gean, who established the Morning Hope Daily Press.

1929 — C. E. Palmer and A.H.
Washburn consolidated The Star and the Press as Hope Star, with Palmer as president and Washburn secretary-treasurer.

1957 — Following Mr. Palmer's death Mrs. Palmer became president.

1969 — With Mrs. Palmer's retirement from Star Publishing Co. Washburn became 76 per cent owner and president — balance 24 per cent being held by Texarkana Newspapers, Inc.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Daily Loss of Some Hair Is Normal in Most Cases

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I am a girl, 18. What could make my hair fall out? Would being a diabetic cause it?

A—It is normal for many hairs to fall out every day. Fortunately, in most girls they grow back as fast as they fall out. So you need not worry unless there is definite evidence that your hair is thinning. Pony tail hair styling, the use of brush rollers or anything that exerts a steady pull on the roots will cause excessive loss of hair. The hair may also be lost temporarily following a prolonged illness with fever or with a local scalp disease.

Q—I am a woman, 62. For the past two years my hair has been falling out. Could this be caused by a lack of vitamins or by using hair dyes?

A—No.
Q—My daughter, 39, is almost bald on the top of her head. Could the fact that she is a heavy smoker have caused it? Would taking gelatin help her?

A—Smoking is being blamed for many ills but not for loss of hair. Gelatin is one of many things tried as a remedy for baldness but there is no evidence that it does any good.

Q—Baldness does not run in my family. Could harsh hair straighteners cause it?

A—Chemical hair straighteners may make the hair brittle and irritate your scalp, but they don't cause baldness.

Q—What causes alopecia areata? Is there any cure for it? Will the hair come back in?

A—The cause of patchy bald spots is unknown but it is seen most often in highly nervous persons. It must be differentiated from ringworm of the scalp. In almost all persons with true alopecia areata, the hair eventually comes back. Meanwhile, massage and exposure of the involved areas to the sun or a sun lamp to produce a mild burn but no blisters may be helpful.

Q—Would griseofulvin stop my hair from falling out?

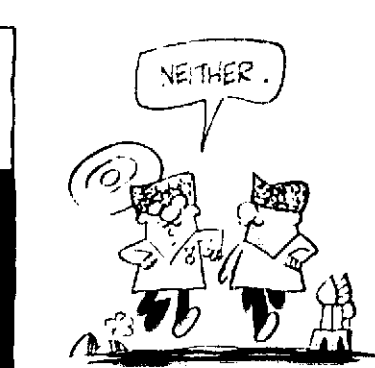

A—Only if the cause of the trouble is a fungus disease.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The origin of coffee is obscure. The World Almanac says. One story has it that either an Arabian or Ethiopian goatherd, around A.D. 850, noticed his flock became frolicsome after having fed upon some red berries on an evergreen bush. The boy ate some of the berries and felt the exhilaration himself. Coffee was brought from Arabia into Turkey in 1554 and into western Europe during the 17th century.

SHORT RIBS

By FRANK O'NEAL

Recreation-Travel

By JIM CROSSLEY

Double Eagle II is just getting her feet wet. This unusual, two-hulled, fishing vessel was launched a few weeks ago in Clearwater, Fla. That II behind the name is legitimate. She's joining Double Eagle I. Her sister ship's sensational record since launching in April, 1967, is the latest chapter in the renaissance of that ancient form of watercraft, the catamaran.

Ancient it is. The name comes from words for "binding" and "timber." In its crudest form, at least a thousand years old, the boat consisted of three logs lashed together (even though today's sailors call the three-hulled vessels "trimarans" and reserve "cat" for the two-hulled).

The hull form is finding use nowadays in both sailing and powered boats.

The configuration was a puzzle to boat designers for a long time. While the tradition was that native islanders got great speeds from their craft, experiments in double-hulled steamboats resulted in stable but slow ones.

Sailing boats eventually solved the problems and became so fast that, for awhile, they were treated like turbine cars at Indianapolis.

The audience watching Buddy Ebsen perform in the television show, "Beverly Hillsbillies," may not be aware that he is equally famous in sailing circles as a great skipper and competitor.

Buddy's recent enthusiasm is the sailing catamaran. His new 35-footer, Polynesian Concept, has design innovations.

It is very fast. On a shake-down race, even though unfinished, it gave its rivals fits on a California-Hawaii scramble. Speed is the catamaran's chief characteristic, though the 43-foot ketch rigged "World Cat" and the 40-foot trimaran "Carousin II" both successfully made round-world voyages, which is unusual enough a feat to prove they are trustworthy.

Swift comes first. They'll come close to 30 knots while single hulls only approach 10.

Buddy Ebsen's interest is founded on a simple philosophy.

"All sailors, when they get into boats," he says, "like to think they can beat anything on the horizon, any sail they see. If there are two sailors out there, there's a race going on, each trying to prove that his boat has finer points of sailing than the other."

Bill Gilmore, the renowned Florida skipper, owns the new Double Eagle II and her sister ship, Double Eagle I. He is strong on power catamarans for their speed, of course. The move now is to get at schools of grouper farther offshore in the Gulf. As a commercial party boat skipper, he carries up to 50 passengers on a trip and comfort is an essential as well. For range, stability and ease in maneuvering, Gilmore swears by the cat.

On the East Coast, sailing out of Montauk, N.Y., is another famous catamaran party fishing boat. Capt. George G. 1 as, owner-designer, inaugurated service with the Hel-Cat last year. It has a 2,000-mile cruising range at 16 knots, carrying 100 passengers.

Even the Navy is getting into the action. Todd Shipyard is building the T-AGOR-16 catamaran, called the most technologically advanced of America's oceanographic research vessels.

Athletics Are Alive, Just Barely

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Athletics are alive but not at all well in Oakland.

Home for a crucial four-game series with front-running Minnesota, the A's gave the Twins a good run but faded in the stretch and took a 10-5 shellacking Thursday night.

The loss dropped the fading A's 7½ games back of Minnesota in the American League West and the villain of the show was smallish Cesar Tovar, the slap hitter-turned-sluggler.

Tovar ruined the evening... and maybe the whole season... for the A's with his first career grand slam. That shot won the ball game for the Twins after the game A's had battled from behind to tie it in the bottom of the ninth.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday, Baltimore bombed Detroit 5-4, California shut out Chicago 1-0 and Kansas City topped Seattle 5-3. The other teams had the day off.

In the only National League game scheduled, San Diego shut out Los Angeles 3-0, ending Willie Davis' hitting streak at 31 games.

The A's, needing a sweep of the series to make a real dent in the Twins' first place cushion, led 4-1 going into the eighth inning.

But Minnesota struck suddenly—scoring four runs, the last two on Harmon Killebrew's 40th home run of the season. That gave the Twins a 5-4 bulge into the ninth.

The A's refused to die easily though. Sal Bando, who had homered earlier, opened with a single and was sacrificed to second. Then an error by defensive replacement Frank Quilici allowed Bando to cross with the tying run.

So the teams battled into the 10th tied—but not for very long. The Twins quickly loaded the bases on a double by Tony Oliva, an intentional walk to Killebrew and an unintentional one to Chuck Manuel.

That set it up for Tovar, who never before had hit a grand slam and only had 21 career homers in four big league seasons. Cesar connected for the big one that sunk the A's for good.

The A's had company as victims of late-inning thunder. Detroit took a 4-1 lead into the ninth inning against Baltimore before the Orioles erupted.

Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson unloaded consecutive home runs, tying the score and then Dave Johnson doubled and came around with the winning run on a fly ball and a ground out.

Tom Tresh and Al Kaline had homered earlier for the Tigers. Ken Tatum pitched his way out of an eighth inning jam and preserved California's squeaker over Chicago.

Tatum, scored upon only once in his last 17 innings, came in with runners on second and third and one out. He retired Luis Aparicio on a ground ball and got Pete Ward on a pop fly to end the inning.

The Angels pushed across the only run of the game in the first inning on a walk to Sandy Alomar, Jay Johnstone's bloop single and a ground out.

Seattle dropped its 15th consecutive game at home, bowing to Kansas City and Dick Drago. Mike Fiore ripped a first inning home run for the Royals and Drago helped his own cause with a run-scoring double—his first major league hit.

Don Mincher hit a two-run homer for the Pilots.

Opened Bulge For Twins

OAKLAND (AP)—Cesar Tovar hammered a 10th-inning grand slam home run Thursday night, giving the Minnesota Twins a 10-5 victory over the Oakland Athletics.

The victory opened a 7½ game bulge for the Twins over the fading Athletics in the American League's West Division race.

Bobcats Open Against Ashdown

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

For the Hope Bobcats and the Ashdown Panthers, it all comes down to tonight at 8:00 p.m., when the opening kickoff starts the new football season at Ashdown.

On the different sides of the fence, Hope figures its offense to be strongest while Ashdown places much hope on its defense. With the Bobcats' personnel, it seems ridiculous to think of Hope being stifled.

Therefore, the crucial factor in tonight's game will be the ability of an untested Bobcat defense to hold the Panthers' running game, which has prompted many to pick Ashdown on top of District 7-A for the second consecutive year.

The Arkansas Gazette has picked Hope surprisingly to win, and the Associated Press put the Bobcats in the favorites' role for a 14-7 score.

It will be interesting to see which ball club can get untracked and onto the scoreboard first. Last year, Ashdown didn't score the game's only touchdown until the first play of the final quarter, but it doesn't appear that tonight will provide the same results.

Junior Ronnie Massanelli will be premiering at quarterback for the Cats, and it is his progress which has led those close to the squad into a complete confidence in the offense's ability to move the football. Ronnie can run, he has a great throwing arm, and he executes with perfection. You can't ask for more out of a quarterback.

Both teams will have their flashy runners, with Ashdown's All-District halfback Jimmy Eskew and the Bobcats' Artis Martin. This pair should both do very well with good blocking, but it takes a balanced attack to move an offense.

That's the situation. Today is the birthday of Head Assistant Coach Willie Tate, who is now 26, and the Bobcats are going to give him a present he will remember along with the fine coaching job he has done with the line-men. After all is done, this writer turns optimist in predicting a 20-7 Hope victory, though Ashdown could by chance score twice.

Fine spirit was join by students and fans alike at last night's first pep rally, held downtown at the corner of Second and Main. With the band and cheerleaders directing the proceedings, the crowd cheered and heard a short talk by Coach Higgins asking "everybody to come to Ashdown."

On KXAR, the Pre-Game Show with Coach Ronnie Higgins at 7:15 p.m., with live play-by-play action from the Ashdown stadium beginning at 7:45.

Davis' Long Hitting Streak Ends

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pitch from Gary Ross of the San Diego Padres came in high and tight. Willie Davis swung and missed it for a third strike on a 1-2 count.

Thus came to an end Thursday night the longest consecutive game hitting streak in the major leagues in a quarter of a century.

The center fielder for the Los Angeles Dodgers had hit safely in 31 consecutive games and was within halting distance of the modern National League record of 37 set by Tommy Holmes of the old Boston Braves in 1945.

Not only did the Padres stop Davis, but they blanked the Dodgers 3-0 dropping them to third place behind San Francisco and Cincinnati in the NL West mad scramble. It was the only NL game scheduled.

Minnesota beat Oakland 10-5 in 10 innings, Baltimore shaded Detroit 5-4, California shut out the Chicago White Sox 1-0 and Kansas City defeated Seattle 5-3 in the four American League games scheduled.

"Well, at least it took two of them to get me," said a disappointed Davis.

He referred to Dick Kelley and Ross, the two Padres pitchers. Kelley started, but had to leave in the third inning because of a sore shoulder. Ross came in and completed a four-hit shutout. He and Kelley each yielded two hits.

This is what happened to Davis: First inning—Against Kelley, came up with Maury Wills on second and grounded out to second baseman Jose Arcia.

Third inning—Against Ross, came up with two on and again grounded out to Arcia.

Fifth inning—Against Ross, came up again with two on and grounded to first baseman Nate Colbert, who threw to Ross, covering first, for the putout.

Eighth inning—Against Ross, came up with Manny Mota on first and struck out.

At Ferrera, a former Dodger, drove in all three runs for the Padres. He doubled home Roberto Pena and Ollie Brown in the third and hit a home run in the sixth.

Meantime, the San Francisco Giants who are rolling along with 12 victories in 14 games, hope they can shake off their September jinx when they open an eight-game tough road trip at Houston tonight.

This is the month in which the Giants have faded and finished second four straight years. This happened even when they had a 14-game winning streak in September, 1965, and in September, 1966, when they won eight of nine games in one span, including six in a row.

Newcomers Leading in Michigan Meet

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

WALLED LAKE, Mich. (AP)—Grier Jones and Bob Menne have spent a total of only 19 months on the Professional Golfers' Association tour.

Menne has won less money in his eight months than some caddies make in three. And, although Jones has won considerably more, neither has ever finished higher than fourth in major tournaments.

But the little known tour newcomers led 35 golfers who fired 69 or better by topping the field of 150 Thursday in the $100,000 Michigan Golf Classic.

The field was to be trimmed today to the low 70 plus ties. Jones had a 30-35-65, while Menne carded a 32-33-65.

Ohio State Seems Cinch to Repeat

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—It almost appears a cinch for Ohio State to repeat as the Big Ten football champion this season and that in itself should be cause for concern.

Led by Woody Hayes, dean of Big Ten coaches who is now in his 19th season at the Buckeye helm, Ohio State counts only four losses from its first 22 players last season.

Last season is when the Buckeyes went through an undefeated Big Ten campaign, capped national honors and creamed Southern Cal and O.J. Simpson 27-16 in the Rose Bowl.

Ohio State will again have its usual bumper crop of sophomores and the schedule will definitely be in favor of the Buckeyes who open the Big Ten campaign at home against rugged Michigan State.

Then they face lightly regarded Minnesota, Illinois, Northwestern and Wisconsin before taking on Purdue at Columbus Nov. 15 and closing the season at Michigan Nov. 22.

This not only means that the Buckeyes meet Michigan State and Purdue at home but the schedule finds them not engaging two darkhorse and offensive minded contenders—Indiana and Iowa.

Although Ohio State lost offensive tackles Rufus Mayes and Dave Foley; center John Muhlback and Linebacker Mark Sier, the Buckeyes still have the likes of quarterback Rex Kern, ends Jan Whitehead and Jankowski, rover back John Tatum, defensive back Ted Provoost and running backs Jim Ois, John Brockington and Dave Brungard.

About the only thing the Buckeyes have going against them is a possible lack of incentive since they cannot return to the Rose Bowl because of the Big Tens no-repeat rule.

Then, too, there is Michigan State. The Spartans had a 5-5 record in 1968 but they managed to upset Notre Dame 21-17 and lost by a narrow 25-20 count to Ohio State.

Coach Duffy Daugherty has 32 lettermen returning including 14 regulars and some of the finest sophomore talent in the country. Bill Triplett will be at the Spartan controls and an opening victory over Ohio State could ignite a championship season.

The Spartans had a great spring practice and if the boys hit this fall like they did last spring, watch out.

Indiana is being pegged for the Rose Bowl by most observers who pick Ohio State first. The Hoosiers have that bursting offense led by Harry Conso, John Isenbarger and Jade Butcher who now are seniors.

Mike Phipps of Purdue is also a senior and he'll have to guide a Boilermaker offense without the running skills of LeRoy Keyes and Perry Williams. But the Boilermakers again figure to be powerful at defense and you still can't lose unless the other team scores.

Michigan will be operating under the Big Ten's only rookie coach, Bo Schembechler, from Miami of Ohio. Bo starts without the services of quarterback Dennis Brown and running back Ron Johnson—the heart of the Wolverine attack last season.

Minnesota has a strong backfield led by the running of Jim Carter and Barry Mayer and the passing of Phil Hagen. After that the Gophers may be in trouble because of a lack of experience in both lines. It was 10 years ago that the Gophers finished last in the Big Ten and came back the following season to tie for the title and gain a Rose Bowl bid.

Illinois, Northwestern and Wisconsin all hope to improve but none figures to contend for either the title or the Rose Bowl bid.

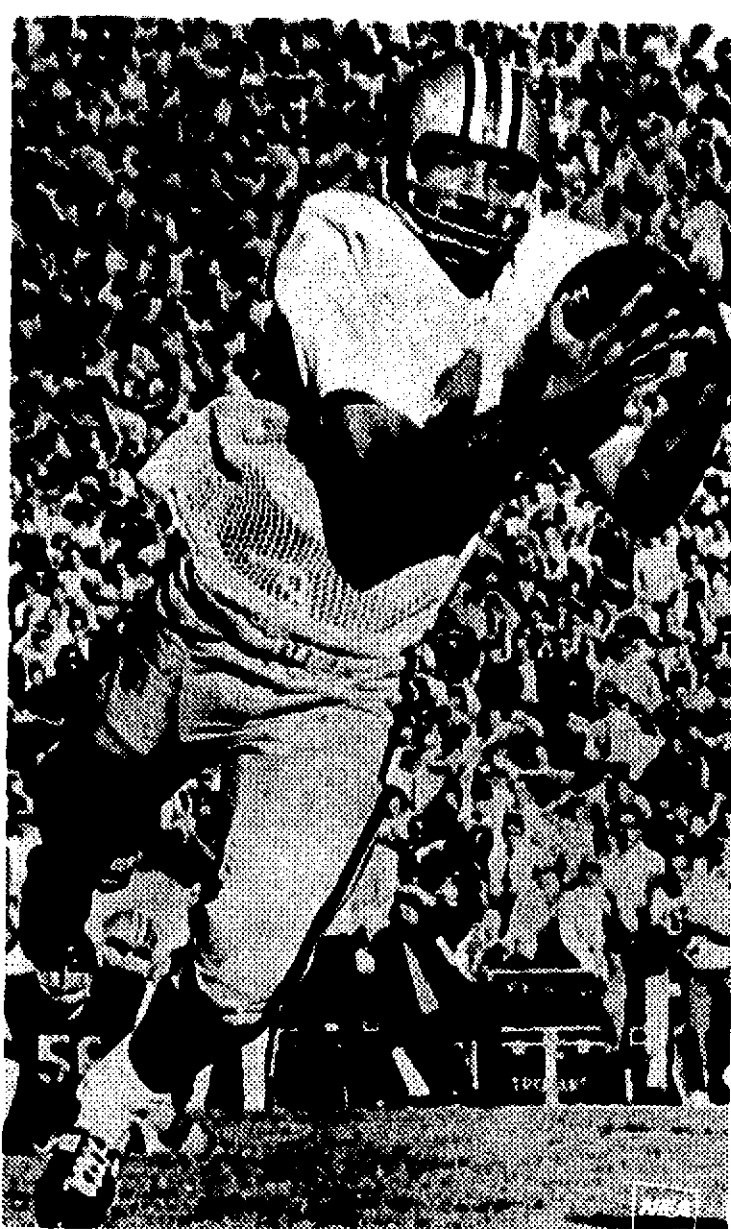

Sophomore Steve Livas will quarterback the Illinois and another half dozen sophomores are expected to win starting roles.

Northwestern will be two deep at quarterback, split end and flanker but there are problems in the offensive line and at defensive ends. A rugged schedule again will be Wildcats' undoing.

Wisconsin hasn't won a game in two years and the Badgers hope to amend that. The Badgers will have some new help in halfback Greg Johnson and fullbacks Alan Thompson and Larry Mialik.

Strikeouts—Jenkins, Chicago 239; Gibson, St. Louis 226.

THE SLOWLY OWL and the hawk hunt their prey by day.

ONE OF THE reasons Ohio State figures to repeat as the No. 1 team in college football is a veteran backfield, which includes pass-catching halfback Ray Gilliam (above).

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Orville Moody is the only one of the four participants in the World Series of Golf who will admit that he's playing well—but none of them can be counted out of the chase for the $50,000 first prize.

"I'm playing pretty good," the U.S. Open champion said Thursday for a practice round at the 7,180 yard par 70 Firestone Country Club course.

Tony Jacklin, the British Open champ, hasn't played competitively since the PGA championship three weeks ago and the other two entrants—Masters title holder George Archer and PGA champion Ray Floyd—had their difficulties which washed out all the traps and flooded several fairways. Two trees were struck by lightning.

The course took a little more damage Thursday when a light plane which was being flown in as an exhibit hit the 17th tee box, lost the left landing gear, dug a furrow up the fairway and skidded to a crash landing in the rough. The pilot, the only occupant, was not injured.

Single rounds are scheduled Saturday and Sunday.

Both rounds will be televised nationally by NBC.

The course, called by the pros one of the toughest they play, took a terrible pounding from a violent thunderstorm Tuesday in last week's Greater Hartford Open.

Both missed out on the final two rounds.

"I can't say how I'm playing," the 25-year-old Jacklin said. "I've only played a couple of exhibitions since the PGA. I've been in England the whole time. We're buying a house, our first house, in the north of England and it takes a lot of time to get moved in."

Although he missed the cut last week, Floyd may be the favorite. The 26-year-old bachelor set a course record 268 at the American Golf Classic here earlier this year.

All four are making their first appearance in this 36-hole event that matches the winners of the world's four major titles.

Need for Federal
Cut-Back is Obvious;
Remember Mississippi

Thursday's order by President Nixon for a 75 per-cent cut-back in federal construction contracts is a good thing — but it's several administrations late in coming.

Ever since the end of World War II the most obvious criticism of the American economic scene has been that the government itself was the biggest contributor to the evil of inflation. Government took most of the labor, and most of the money — so that the labor and money available for private construction grew less and less until finally they vanished.

Learned professors have attempted to explain away this criticism of the free government's spenders — but you knew all along they used an odd-ball kind of arithmetic that didn't add up at the cash register.

It was not a partisan matter. Most of the time we had Democratic presidents and they were big spenders. But there was a Republican among them — Dwight Eisenhower. After his retirement Mr. Eisenhower was unwary enough to criticize one of President Johnson's budget deficits — and some Democrat with a long memory promptly silenced the ex-president by reminding the country that in his own administration he ran up the biggest peace-time loss on record to that time.

The inevitable end of free-spending on borrowed money is that both government and private business have finally run out of credit. And now it's time the government took its heel off the private citizen's neck and gave him a chance to recover solvency for all.

Candor compels me to remind you that almost a decade ago this editor and his newspaper fought, and delayed for a year, the construction of a new federal building and post office for our town — holding that the local need didn't justify further increasing the national debt by $400,000.

We couldn't stop it. But our fight did point up the beginning of reform. Along came the 10 per cent income surtax — handing the citizens the bill for governmental extravagance.

But the big order came through Thursday — sharply cutting federal expenditures, the heart of the inflationary evil.

Another reminder that you should honor Mississippi's call for help in behalf of those left homeless by Hurricane Camille.

Make out your check to Gulfport Rotary Club and send it to Roy Anderson, Second and Main Sts., Hope, Mr. Anderson will forward the group collection to Gulfport.

He told me this morning he had talked to the president of the Gulfport Rotary Club, who said two of the club members were killed in the hurricane. The president reported a personal disaster for himself: His bank building was demolished — only the vault being left standing.

Older citizens of Hempstead county will recall a similar disaster in this area — the 1923 tornado which damaged Washington and levelled Bleivins, killing 27 persons.

Hempstead county got help from all over America. Now we should honor an identical call from the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Everybody Was Entertained

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP) — While one man pointed a gun at bar patrons here Thursday, an accomplice entertained the victims by playing boogie-woogie music on a piano.

The bandits escaped with more than $200, but police in nearby Belmont arrested three men at a roadblock soon after. They were arraigned in Municipal Court on armed robbery charges.

No Word on Missing U.S. Ambassador

By GEORGE HAWRYLYSHYN
Associated Press Writer
RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazil's military junta gave no indication today whether it will free 15 political prisoners to secure the release of kidnapped U.S. Ambassador Charles Burke Elbrick.

Four gunmen intercepted Elbrick's limousine Thursday, chloroformed him and carried him off in a station wagon. They left a lengthy ransom note giving the junta 48 hours—until Saturday afternoon—to release the prisoners and broadcast a manifesto saying the government was a dictatorship that was exploiting the people.

If the junta did not comply, the note said, Elbrick would be executed. It added that the deadline would not be postponed and "we will not hesitate to carry out our promises."

The three military chiefs who took over from ailing President Arthur da Costa e Silva Sunday night quickly complied with the second demand. Television stations interrupted regular programs to broadcast the manifesto. Radio stations said the text had been released but they did not read a full version. Newspapers were planning to publish the antigovernment blast in today's editions.

The kidnappers' note told the government to deliver the 15 prisoners to the embassies of Chile, Mexico or Algeria and give them safe conduct to those countries.

The names of the prisoners were not announced, but it was believed they include some of the 29 members of a terrorist group called MR-8 who were arrested in July.

MR-8 was one of the signers of the manifesto. The other was a group called the National Liberation Action. Their document said the two groups would no longer tolerate torture, beating and killing of their members by the government.

Roadblocks were set up around the outskirts of Rio, and police and security forces carried out widespread searches for the kidnappers and Elbrick in Rio and other cities.

The kidnapping of the 61-year-old career diplomat appeared to be well planned and was quickly executed. A small Volkswagen blocked the ambassador's limousine as he was returning to the embassy downtown after lunching at his residence.

The four gunmen forced their way into the Cadillac, chloroformed Elbrick and transferred him to a Volkswagen station wagon. They drove away, leaving behind the embassy driver, a homemade bomb that failed to go off and the ransom note.

Monday's Wash Is Now a Bewildering Array of Those Detergents

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — Eventually it will all come out in the wash. But today's laundress needs a degree in chemistry to make sure it does.

Where once a dash of soap was all it took for a white Monday, now there's a bewildering array of detergents, water conditioners, brighteners, blueings, bleaches, fabric softeners, sizzling agents, enzyme soakers and finishes.

Oh, I'm not suggesting that we housewives go back to pounding the dirty clothes on a rock at the neighborhood stream. I don't even urge that we return to the galvanized washtub and corrugated scrub board.

But I do look back with nostalgia to the good old days when you could throw the contents of the laundry hamper into a machine, push a few buttons here and there and sit down for another cup of coffee.

In order to employ all the latest scientific laundry aids, I now have to stand by with a stopwatch, an instruction booklet, a textile manual for judging the type of fabric involved, a microscope for determining the

Billionaire Hughes Has Tripled His Gold, Silver Mine Holdings

By MARTY THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer
RENO, Nev. (AP) — Billionaire Howard Hughes has tripled his holdings in Nevada gold and silver mining claims, and new records show he is exploring the ground in search of mineral wealth.

Hughes has at least 1,655 claims on mines that produced Nevada's boom era and on untapped ground that geologists call "target areas" for prospectors.

A record number of "Proof of Labor" documents—required by law—were filed this week by Hughes with the county recorder at Austin, a one-time silver mining town of 400 in central Nevada.

They show Hughes paid $2.9 million last May for 1,178 claims in an area that State Mine Inspector Mervin Gallagher says has "real potential." Two mines that Gallagher calls very successful are pulling what miners call "invisible gold" out of the area's rocky soil.

Milling with cyanide dissolves the precious metal out of ore that would have been discarded as too low in value before modern methods and high gold prices made it attractive. Hughes' filings say his crew are taking core samples and stripping away topsoil looking for ore veins.

"He's certainly going after it, and tests have indicated there's gold there," says Gallagher. "They have the technical people and resources. If there is any possibility of putting mining claims into operation, they're the people who could do it."

The first Hughes claims—477—were recorded 16 months ago. Public records in the nine counties where Hughes has filed claims show he has invested millions in mining.

Hughes, who has bought six Las Vegas hotels and casinos and uncounted real estate since moving to Nevada in 1966, is now trying to buy Air West, a regional airline, for $94.6 million.

The purchase is caught up in the carrier's complicated financial problems.

Federal law requires statements of continued work on certain claims, and the documents filed in Austin by a Hughes aide say $120,000 was spent last month exploring claims in that county alone.

Four of seven crewmen were killed and the other three were reported missing today after a B52 bomber crashed shortly after takeoff from Loring Air Force Base Thursday night.

"Four of the seven crewmen are known dead," the base public information office said in a statement early today. "The other three are still missing."

The statement added that "a rescue party of about 50 people has reached the wreckage. Rescue operations are proceeding."

An Air Force spokesman said the eight-engine jet, on a training flight, came down in an almost inaccessible bog three miles from the end of the runway.

A military helicopter flew over the wreckage but because of thick woods was not able to land.

A dispatcher at Maine State Police barracks at Houlton said he understood a path would have to be bulldozed through the woods.

An Air Force public information officer said the plane was not carrying a bomb load.

Names of those aboard were withheld until next of kin could be notified.

Statements Are Called Misleading

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Odell Pollard, state Republican party chairman, said Thursday state Rep. B. D. "Doug" Brandon of Little Rock had made wild, unfounded, misleading charges about the state Revenue Department.

Brandon "and his associates" want to wait before taking constructive action because they would rather a Democrat as governor get credit for expenditures that would be possible with new tax money, Pollard said.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, a Republican, got only about $24 million of the $90 million in new taxes he requested earlier this year of the legislature.

Pollard's comments followed a statement Wednesday in which Brandon said the legislature had been too cooperative with Rockefeller.

One Quad Dies in California

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — One of four quadcopter boys born Aug. 29 to a Garden Grove couple is dead.

Children's Hospital said Charles Donald Curtin, who was the youngest of the four and weighed 2 pounds 10 ounces at birth, died Thursday night of heart failure caused by respiratory distress.

The other three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curtin were in good condition, a hospital spokesman said. They are in an Anaheim hospital.

'Federalism' Test Given by Nixon

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon is giving his "New Federalism" a key test by asking state and local governments to match the 75 per cent cutback he has ordered on all new federal construction.

Nixon ordered the federal construction cutback for all government agencies Thursday, effective immediately. But he did not order similar cuts on state and local projects that are aided by federal government grants.

One of Nixon's top economic advisers, Dr. Arthur Burns, explained:

"The President has great faith in what he likes to think of, or describe as, 'The New Federalism.' He likes to leave as much discretion as possible to state and local authorities. The President, therefore, would like to see state and local governments take action on their own in accord with the national policy."

Nixon said, however, that he would restrict federal grants for construction projects if the states and localities do not respond promptly and in a manner he thinks is sufficient to meet his urgent "plea for partnership in action."

The cutbacks Nixon ordered affect all federally financed construction except what he described as projects of "highest social priority." Burns said these include hospitals and some public housing.

The Budget Bureau will have to select the top priority projects and some may "end up on the President's desk" for a decision, Burns said.

Some Rain Is Predicted for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas is in for more rain over the weekend, the U. S. Weather Bureau said today.

The Weather Bureau said widely scattered thundershowers would begin over Northwest Arkansas late Saturday afternoon, then spread over much of the state.

High temperatures should range mostly in the low to mid 90s over the state.

High temperatures Thursday ranged from the low 80s to the low 90s with the warmest temperatures along the western borders. The high was 93 at Texarkana.

Showers Thursday were widely scattered and light. Most of the activity was in the eastern and southern sections of the state.

Lows tonight are expected to be in the 60s east to low 70s west. Overnight lows ranged from 65 at Fayetteville to 72 at Texarkana.

Cites Protests to Integration

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Dr. Mitchell Young head of Freedom Inc., of Texarkana, Tex., said Thursday that "from Florida to Colorado" people are protesting school integration.

He told a news conference that federal officials have falsely claimed that school desegregation in the South was proceeding smoothly in general with only a few areas of protest.

Young's group favors "freedom-of-choice" school plans as the constitutional method for desegregating public schools and opposes sterner measures advocated by federal officials and courts.

Apparently Pentagon Has Won Battle With Senators on Spending

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate drive to slash Pentagon spending appears to have lost some momentum as it heads toward showdown voting, probably on Monday.

But a source close to the Senate bloc seeking to trim about $3 billion from a $20 billion military procurement authorization bill says the effort "hasn't fallen apart yet by any means."

"There has been some momentum lost but that's only natural after the recess," said this source.

He knew of no defections from the 35-40 votes military spending critics claimed before the August recess, and he "hoped" there had been some converts.

Senate leaders said Thursday that the first of several amendments to cut or delay funds for specific military projects would come up for a vote Monday.

Considered will be an amendment sponsored by Wisconsin Democrat William Proxmire to deny $553 million for 23 additional C5A transport planes and to direct the General Accounting Office to study what the cheapest way would be to meet the airlift capacity the Pentagon wants.

Critics contend that 58 of the big planes that already are flying, under construction or on the drawing boards are enough and the Pentagon couldn't even find enough combat ready troops to fill all of those.

Other amendments pending would block funds for a new mammoth aircraft carrier until the administration outlines how the big ships fit into its future policy and would delay funds for a new manned bomber, a super-size battle tank and two new fighter planes.

Proxmire carried the fight alone Thursday against a sometimes scathing attack by Republican members of the Armed Services Committee.

California's George Murphy accused Proxmire of using the C5A affair to gain publicity and said the controversy over the world's biggest plane had damaged "tens of thousands of workers in government and in my state."

Proxmire repeatedly said that none of the amendments would actually terminate a program. They are aimed at delaying the program until further studies can be made.

NLR Mayor May Order Firearms

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mayor W. F. "Casey" Laman said Thursday that if it is legal he may order that firearms be carried in all city vehicles.

Laman said he had received several reports that city employees were threatened while working and that bricks or stones had been thrown at city vehicles.

"I can't afford to jeopardize the city employees," he said.

The mayor said he also had been told that a group of young Negroes had fired a pistol into the air in an attempt to frighten an Electric Department worker who had climbed a power line pole.

He has not decided what he will do.

Big Attack Launched by Enemy

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces launched their heaviest attacks in nearly a month early today but said they will stop shooting for three days next week to mourn Ho Chi Minh.

U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were expected to go along with the cease-fire, which the Viet Cong radio said would begin at 1 a.m. Monday and last until 1 a.m. Thursday. The North Vietnamese president will be given a state funeral in Hanoi Wednesday.

Spokesmen in Saigon had no immediate comment on the cease-fire announcement, but a South Vietnamese official said "it would be a humanitarian gesture" to join in a truce. The U.S. Command always follows Saigon's lead in regard to cease-fire proposals.

U.S. officials said enemy forces fired rockets and mortars at 74 allied bases and towns early today and hit nine others with infantry assaults.

Initial reports showed 17 Americans killed, 172 Americans wounded, and more than 100 enemy soldiers killed. South Vietnamese headquarters said 28 of its troops and six civilians were killed, and 113 troops and 31 civilians were wounded.

U.S. headquarters said the sudden upsurge in enemy attacks marked the second "high point" of the enemy's fall campaign, which began Aug. 12 with a night of rocket, mortar and ground assaults on 150 allied bases and towns.

The number of attacks diminished soon after, declining to an average of 10 to 15 a night during the last week. The U.S. Command had expected a significant stepup in enemy activity this week to mark North Vietnamese Independence Day on Tuesday.

The latest attacks centered in one of the same areas that was a focal point Aug. 12, the sector between Saigon and the Cambodian border. The heaviest fighting ranged from 34 to 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

Shortly after midnight more than 20 enemy commandos moving behind a mortar barrage crept up to the barbed wire perimeter of a U.S.-South Vietnamese patrol base 34 miles northwest of Saigon and two miles from the Cambodian border.

The sappers lobbed grenades into mortar pits, touching off explosions that killed two Americans and one South Vietnamese and wounded 15 Americans and six South Vietnamese. But 16 of the infiltrators were killed.

Two Americans and five enemy soldiers were killed when troops of the North Vietnamese 1st Division stormed a patrol base of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division nine miles east of Tay Ninh. One enemy prisoner was captured.

Rocket and mortar fire killed five Americans and wounded 47 during attacks on the divisional headquarters, two brigade headquarters and four forward patrol bases of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division along the Cambodian border. One U.S. helicopter was destroyed and another damaged, spokesmen said.

A dozen villages north of Saigon also came under rocket and mortar attack and a few were hit by light ground probe, but initial reports indicated there were only a few civilian casualties.
